Synopsis

Zauba'ah: a N9nth Degree Warrior Scientist of galactic accolade, is charged with the mission of incarnating in the form of an adolescent girl, in order to pass judgement on the human race. Events that took place during her occupation led to the onset of an intergalactic war of such magnitude that it went down in the history of her collective as Heaven's War. How did she earn the status of an elite goddess of biblical proportions endowed with the right to judge? Simple, like you and I, she was born with a gift and a purpose and used the two to earn it. This is her story.

Chronicles of Zauba'ah is the long awaited prequel to the current quadrilogy of books, The Mouth of Babes, Let Sleeping Gods Lie, Heaven's War: The God Awakened and 2013 Evolution.

About the author

While Tosin Coker has had a lifelong passion for Science Fiction, her burning desire to contribute new blood to the genre was hindered by her feeling of inadequacy. The UK market had never seen works released by a black female writer before but, in what she dubs as a "Mission Impossible-style challenge", Coker set out to buck the trends.

Eight years later, Coker is celebrated as one of Science Fiction's most talented and refreshing players, with four novels already on the shelves. 'The Mouth of Babes Let', 'Sleeping Gods Lie', 'Heaven's War: The Gods Awakened' and '2013 Evolution' have brought Coker much acclaim. Following a three year break from the genre, she is now back, with 'Chronicles of Zauba'ah'.
